7TH AFRICAN SCHOOL ON INTERNET GOVERNANCE

Building internet governance leadership in Africa

CONTEXT

- AfriSIG started in 2013 in South Africa, followed by Mauritius (2014), Ethiopia (2015), South Africa (2016), Egypt (2017) and Tanzania (2018).
- Goal: to foster critical debate on internet governance from an African, Southern and gender perspective.
- AfriSIG 2019 in Chad: 45 participants from 23 countries will gather at sessions, lectures and workshops on internet governance processes at the local, national, sub-regional, regional and global levels.

This is a unique event, and we want to share part of it with the rest of the world.

Join our dynamic network of African internet governance leaders from diverse sectors, backgrounds and ages who are shaping the future of the ICT landscape for Africa's development.

The screenshot shows the APC.org website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for Dashboard, Content, Structure, Appearance, People, Modules, Configuration, Orphaned Terms Deletion, User listing, and Reports. Below this is the APC logo (Association for Progressive Communications) and a search bar. The main navigation menu includes About, Our work, Our members, Publications, News, and APC Talk. The 'APC Talk' section is highlighted in orange. Below the header, there is a breadcrumb trail 'Home / APC Talk' and a paragraph explaining the section's purpose: 'This section is a space where APC's staff, members and readers can open up conversations on topics that are of interest for the ICT community. It is a space where authors get to be themselves – sometimes to express opinions and challenge the readers on issues and topics that are close to them, sometimes to share their personal experience on an event or a current debate. The views expressed in this section do not necessarily reflect the views of APC or its network, but that does not make them any less valuable.' Below this, there are two article cards. The first card is titled 'Kondoa Community Network: Breaking gender digital divides' by Rebecca Ryakitimbo for GenderIT.org, dated 21 August 2019. The second card is titled 'Feminist reflections on internet policies' and includes a sub-section 'Sorry, we need to see a letter from an institution: Struggling as an independent researcher' and another sub-section 'Digging up Trauma, Survivor Porn and other Ethical Concerns about Research'. A third card is partially visible at the bottom, titled 'A response to "The age of the feminist'.
